

System Competencies in the Satellite Telecom Industry

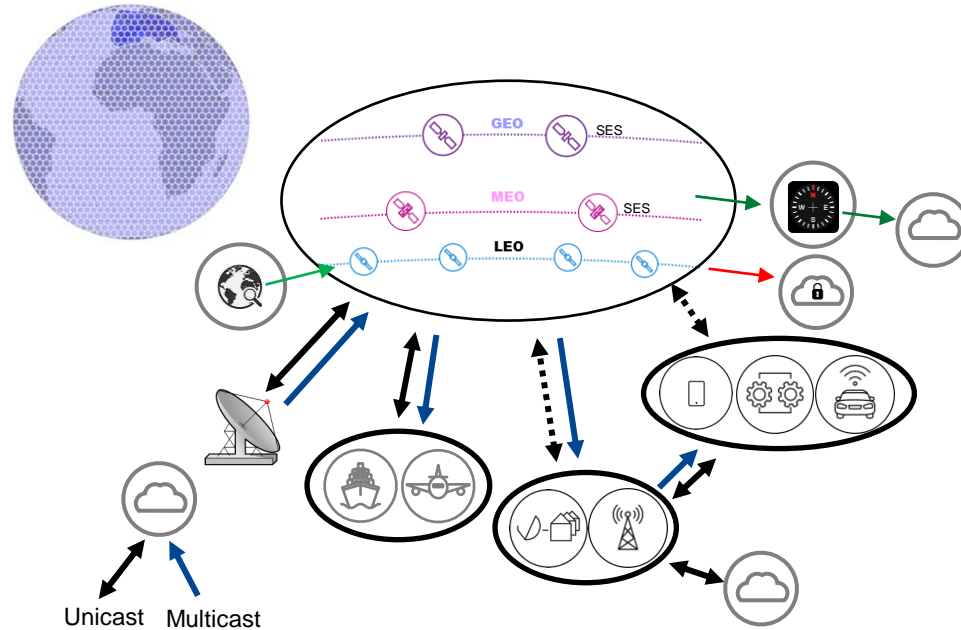

JP Choffray – 8-Oct-2024

Telecommunication Satellites Applications

Systems competences are essential for integrating various components and technologies into a reliable, efficient, competitive and secure system

Satellite in the global network of network

Mastering the system-of-systems approach is essential for addressing the growing complexity, interdependence, and scale of modern communication networks